Spiritual Notes:

Today's The Book of Deuteronomy, presented as a collection of farewell speeches given by Moses to the Israelites just before his death, serves as a source of legislation for biblical Israel. "Deuteronomy" means "second law"; the book is a second edition of the Law found earlier in the Torah. In today's reading Moses exhorts the people to keep the Law, which is not too mysterious and remote. This Law is to be internalized, not written on stone tablets but in your mouths and in your hearts. Writing to the Colossians, Paul calls Christ the firstborn of all creations. Christ reconciled us to God by the blood of His cross, and so we share the promise of a new life given by the resurrection. As head of the body, the church, Christ sanctifies us by His blood. Because of this we share His life. Sharing in that life, we must strive to conform our lives more fully to His by loving our neighbor. The scholar of the law who questions Jesus in today's Gospel knows the answer to be His own question; he questions Jesus and the law love our neighbor are central to the practice of the Law of Moses and were taught as such for centuries. The question of the identity of one's neighbor is another issue. For some, the word only referred to fellow Israelites; for Jesus, anyone who is in need is our neighbor. The scholar would not consider a Samaritan someone detested by the Jews as His neighbor. Samaritans were so despised that even after Jesus' parable, the scholar still doesn't use the term; he merely calls him the one who treated him with mercy.

For Reflection: Is God's law something internalized in my life or is it a set of rules found in a book on a shelf? Is there a "neighbor" in my life whom I need to love in a better way? What prevents me from loving as I should?

Please keep in your prayers, Pat Tarulli, age 91, who died on Sunday, June 26, 2016 and Joseph Lanza, age 90, who died on Wednesday, June 29, 2016. May their souls and all the souls of our faithful departed rest in peace. Please keep their families in your prayers.

The Jubilee Year of Mercy

December 8, 2015-November 20, 2016

"It is a favorable time to heal wounds, a time to offer everyone the way of Forgiveness and Reconciliation."

~ Pope Francis

Holy Year of Mercy: Sacrament of Baptism.

Baptism is the way God the Father adopts a person into His family as a son or daughter. He imprints a permanent mark on the baptized person's soul, claiming them as His own. All this is done through His Son Jesus Christ. "No one comes to the Father but through me." (Jn. 14:6) Baptism is called the gateway sacrament because it is necessary for receiving the other sacraments. Jesus tells us, "I am the gate. Whoever enters through me will be safe. He will go in and out, and find pasture." (Jn. 10:9) Through baptism we receive the life-giving, sanctifying grace of God the Holy Spirit and the soul becomes a temple of the Holy Spirit. This grace wipes away Original Sin that stains each soul because of the fallen nature inherited from our first parents Adam and Eve. With sanctifying grace, the Holy Trinity makes the soul of the baptized person their home, as long as the sanctifying grace in the soul is not lost through mortal (deadly) sin.

At His ascension, Jesus commanded the apostles, "Go, therefore, and make disciples of all the nations. Baptize them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit." (Mt. 28:19). Jesus also said, "The man who believes in it [the Good News] and accepts baptism will be saved, the man who refuses to believe in it will be condemned." (Mk. 16: 16)

Mercy grows within us as we reflect on how God has been merciful to us.

Notas Espirituales:

Hoy en el libro de Deuteronomio, presentado como una colecta de palabras de despedida de Moisés a los israelitas antes de su muerte, los servidores como fuente de la legislación de Israel bíblico. "Deuteronomio" significa "segunda ley", el libro es una segunda edición de la Ley anteriormente en la Tora. En la lectura de hoy Moisés exhorta al pueblo a cumplir la Ley, que no es demasiado misterioso y remoto. Esta Ley tiene por objeto ser interno, no escrita en tablas de piedra, sino en vuestra boca y en vuestros corazones. Al escribir a los Colosenses, Pablo llama a Cristo el primogénito de toda creación. Cristo nos ha reconciliado con Dios por la sangre de su cruz, por lo que comparte la promesa de una nueva vida dada a la resurrección. Como cabeza del cuerpo de la iglesia, Cristo nos santifica con su sangre. Debido a esto, compartimos su vida. Participando en la vida, debemos esforzarnos por cumplir nuestras vidas más plenamente a su amor por el prójimo. El erudito de la ley que cuestiona a Jesús en el Evangelio de hoy conoce la respuesta, es a su propia pregunta, le pregunta a Jesús, amar a nuestro prójimo son fundamentales para la práctica de la ley de Moisés, fueron enseñados como tal durante siglos. Para algunos, la palabra sólo se refirió a los demás israelitas, a Jesús, quien se encuentra en necesidad en nuestros vecinos. El erudito no consideraría una persona Samaritano detestado por los Judíos como su vecino. Los Samaritanos eran tan despreciado que incluso después de la parábola de Jesús, el estudioso todavía no utilizaba el término, sino que simplemente el que tuvo compasión exige. Para la reflexión: ¿En la ley de Dios algunas veces lo siento interno en mi vida o son reglas que se encuentran en un libro? ¿Hay un "prójimo" en mi vida que yo necesito amar de una manera mejor? ¿Qué me impide amar como debiera?

Están todos invitados
