Spiritual Notes:

Isaiah reminds us that God "is generous in forgiving." The Lord tells us, "My thoughts are not your thoughts, nor are your ways my ways." We should not expect God to act as we would; rather we should strive to conform our actions to the mind of God. God calls sinners to return, not so that they might be condemned, but that they might be forgiven. The church in Philippi was the first Christian community in Europe, a major step in the growth of Christianity. Writing from prison, Paul calls the Philippians to persevere in their faith, conducting themselves "in a way worthy of the gospel of Christ." Not knowing whether he will face death or release from prison, he longs to depart this life and be with Christ. But to remain in the flesh is more necessary for your benefit. The parable of the workers in the vineyard makes many people uncomfortable. Why should who worked only an hour get the same pay as someone who "bore the day's burden and the heat?" It doesn't seem fair. Jesus tells this parable to teach us that God is more concerned with being merciful than being fair. We should not be envious because God is generous.

For reflection: Am I an all-day laborer, or have I come to work late in the day? What is my response to God's mercy extended to others? Do I see God as not fair or as generous?

Notas Espirituales:

Isaías nos recuerda que Dios "es rico en perdón." El Señor nos dice: "Porque mis pensamientos no son los de ustedes, / ni sus caminos mis caminos." No debemos esperar que Dios actúe como lo haríamos; más bien debemos esforzarnos para confirmar nuestras acciones a la mente de Dios. Dios llama a los pecadores para volver, no para que pudieran ser condenados, sino que pudiéramos ser perdonados.

La iglesia en Filipo fue la primera comunidad cristiana en Europa, un paso importante en el crecimiento del cristianismo. Escribiendo desde la cárcel, Pablo llama a los filipenses a perseverar en la fe, conduciéndose a sí mismos "de una manera digna del evangelio de Cristo." Sin saber si va a enfrentarse a la muerte o la liberación de la cárcel, él desea "salir de esta vida y estar con Cristo." Sin embargo, "permanecer en la carne/es más necesario para su beneficio."

La parábola de los obreros de la viña incomoda a mucha gente. ¿Por qué alguien que trabajó sólo una hora obtiene el mismo salario que alguien que "llevó el peso del día y el calor?" No parece justo, Jesús dice la parábola para enseñar que Dios está más preocupado ser misericordioso que con ser justo. No debemos ser envidiosos porque Dios es generoso.

Para la reflexión: ¿Soy un trabajador durante todo el día, o vine a trabajar hasta tarde en el día? ¿Cuál es mi respuesta a la misericordia de Dios extendida a otros? ¿Veo a Dios como no justo o como generoso?
